Conrad J. Wight focuses on civil litigation at Blankingship & Keith. He joined the firm as a law clerk and will become an associate upon admission to the Virginia Bar.

Conrad earned his J.D. with Highest Honors from The George Washington University Law School, where he was elected to the Order of the Coif. While in law school, he served as an Associate Editor of The George Washington International Law Review and was a member of the Mock Trial Board. He also received the President's Pro Bono Service Award and a Public Service Fellowship.

While in law school, Conrad developed his legal acumen through internships at the Antitrust Division of the Department of Justice, the U.S. District Court for the District of Columbia, the Office of the U.S. Attorney for the Northern District of Ohio, and in private practice with securities litigation boutique Levi & Korsinsky, LLP. Conrad worked in sales and marketing before law school, and this business experience informs his client-centric, goal-oriented approach to the law.

Originally from the Chicago area, Conrad additionally holds a B.A. in Economics from the University of Wisconsin–Madison.
